

Privacy Policy

Newyou Spa respects the privacy of our customers and website users. We have developed the following Privacy Policy to ensure your personal information is handled and maintained securely and responsibly. We do not sell any customer's information to anyone, including the customer's cell phone number or email address. The privacy policy details the types of information we may collect from you during your visit to our website, how we use the information, and when/if the information will be shared with third parties. To ensure the safety and security of your information, we may change the privacy policy at times, but we will be certain to keep this web page current so that you will be aware of any changes. When you use our website, you consent to us collecting and using your information according to the specifications in this privacy policy.

There are two types of information collected when you visit our website: public information and personal information.

Public information - such as IP address, domain type, browser version, and service provider – is recorded during each visitor's use of our site. This information helps us know our customers better to serve you more efficiently. For example, public information will tell us how frequently our visitors browse a particular page, and we, in turn, use these trends to help us decide what items we would like to see included in our sales.

Private information – When you sign up for an account with Newyou Spa or when you book a service with us, we ask you for information including, but not limited to your name, address, phone number, and credit card number. This information is used to service your request, deliver your product, answer your inquiries, and process returns. Most people are not concerned as much with how we use the information, but more about if/when/why your personal information will be shared with third parties. Spa 88 will not share your personal information with any third party. These third parties may include our printer, mailing house, shipping company, survey firm, database administrators, etc. We may disclose your personal information when we deem it appropriate to comply with the law. Finally, if Spa 88 were ever merged or purchased by another entity, we would share our customer information with this business entity and retain a copy for our records. This privacy policy is subject to change. We encourage you to check back regularly.

Thank you for visiting with us.
